About Us

With 23 years of experience, Span Floors has created a name for itself in the minds of discerning homeowners, prestigious architects, interior designers, and developers. Our projects range from luxury farmhouses and villas to regal penthouses. We take pride in bringing you world-class wood flooring, facades, and decking options from top manufacturers across the world.

Our Commitment to the environment

Our commitment to the environment stretches beyond words. Our care for the environment had its genesis in our first days back in 2000. Ever since then, we have been scanning the globe to procure the best products, not only for you but for the environment as well.

In our process of deciding what kind of products we bring you, our first criterion is sustainability - is the timber coming from correctly harvested forests? It is very easy to find options of woods that come from non-sustainable forests, but careful research and due diligence are required to find manufacturers who share our love for Mother Earth.

We bring you the products from these places to sustain the positive practice of sustainable farming and so that you, as a customer, know that you are doing your part in keeping the planet healthy.

Our Promise

Sustainability

We know that you care for the planet just as much as we do. We offer engineered flooring that is made of wood exclusively from certified forestry operations.

Unfading Quality

Experience timeless elegance with our exterior wood options—unfading quality that stands the test of time, transforming your space with enduring beauty.

Health

We take care to source our exterior wood only from reliable manufacturers who have the necessary certifications in this regard.

The Current Scene with Wood

Many people think that wood comes with high maintenance, and they are not wrong. The wrong type of wood with incorrect installation and maintenance can become a liability for the homeowner not much time down the line. These situations can expose wood to fungi and mould as well.

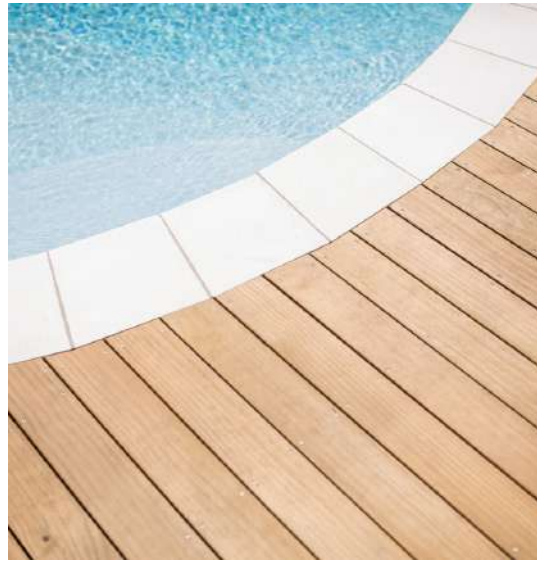

What we do about it

We figured out how to bring you the warmth of real wood without any of the problems. Our patented technology treats the wood so that it comes with all the looks and none of the problems. Vulcan, by Abodo, is very resistant to termites and fungi. Furthermore, its beauty shines without the need for heavy maintenance. So you can sit back and relax knowing your wood is well protected against these major concerns.

THE SPAN STORY

Q. What is the Span Floors story (from the beginning to today)? How did Span Floors come into existence?

From the beginning, I had a passion for beautiful spaces. When I first came across wood floors in the year 2000. I just fell in love with them and wanted one for my room right away. One thing led to another, and soon, we were selling them! That was the start of our wood flooring business.

Q. Take us through your product and offerings and who are the audience for the same?

Span Floors products cater to the high-end residential market. Our audience is customers who want the best the world of wood floors and facades has to offer. Not only do the products look great, but the collection has been designed to provide durability in the long run. All our products are being manufactured in international world-class manufacturing plants at the highest quality levels. Not only that, these manufacturers are certified FSC or PEFC or an equivalent stringent certification and meet strict indoor air-quality norms such as E1, Green guard, etc.

Q. What does Span Floors, as a brand, stand for?

Responsible luxury. The entire collection is curated on 4 basic criteria - Aesthetics, Durability, Health & Sustainability. These characteristics describe our entire product offering.

Q. Besides wood floors, what other products does Span Floors sell? How can we know about them in detail?

We also have a great collection of Exterior wood products such as Decking, Cladding, Pergolas, Gates, etc. Please visit www.spanfloors.com for more information. You could also go to our Instagram, Facebook or LinkedIn page and follow us to keep updated.

Q. What tips can you give to those who are interested in buying Engineered floors? What few key points should one keep in mind?

People generally go by aesthetics as the first parameter. So if they like something they check the price and so on... No doubt, how the product looks is extremely important as, ultimately, that is going to affect the visual outcome of the room.

However, the other equally important concern should be the expected in-service lifespan of the product, its the ability to take the day-to-day usage and the impact the product has on the well-being of the room occupants. Last but not least, the best product can go to waste without proper technical advice and installation. Do look for the quality of advice from the vendor. This will be a guide as to how much he understands his own product and his ability to help you in case of any service need in future.

Q. Can you please share your vision for the next 3-5 years?

Our vision is clear. We will continue to work relentlessly to retain our leadership in the luxury wood flooring and exterior wood segment. We fully understand that the leadership so far has only been possible due to the trust our clients, Architects, Designers, Channel Partners and vendors have placed in us, and we will take all the steps needed to further that.
